Press release

Zurich's coolest ski lodge is back

On 4 November 2022, Zurich's most sophisticated ski lodge will open its doors again.

Dolder Lodge meets St. Moritz: once again, the Dolder Grand and St. Moritz are teaming up for this year's edition of the stylish winter pop-up on the Adlisberg in Zurich. The event is centred around refined Alpine culinary specialities that have been given a special twist by Michelin-starred chef Heiko Nieder. The Dolder Lodge will open its doors from 4 November 2022 to 29 January 2023, Thursdays to Sundays from 6.00 pm.

Want to enjoy the wintry magic of St. Moritz in Switzerland's largest city? The Dolder Lodge is bringing the unique lifestyle and charm of perhaps the most legendary Alpine resort in the world right here to Zurich. In the pop-up restaurant, authentic elements and original decorations from Engadine will allow guests to escape to the mountains of St. Moritz just outside of bustling downtown Zurich. And we mean that literally, because the modern interior design combines sporting attractions with the prominent buildings that shape the St. Moritz skyline.

Together with his team, Heiko Nieder, Culinary Director at the Dolder Grand, has created a selection of hearty dishes that offer a new take on Alpine classics: mountain potato rösti with Périgord truffle salad, pikeperch capuns with blanc-de-noir foam and caviar, or kasnudeln with white truffle and beurre noisette. One particular culinary highlight is the celebrated "Fondue by Heiko Nieder", which features an aromatic cheese blend created by the top chef together with cheese expert Rolf Beeler. In addition, the menu also includes a traditional cheese fondue, fondue chinoise with three types of meat, and other delicacies.

General Manager Markus Granelli says: "We are extremely pleased to continue this wonderful cooperation with St. Moritz. As two internationally renowned city resorts, we have so much in common:
